

Your checking account is about to change

When you turn 19, your Chase High School CheckingSM account will automatically convert to a Chase Total Checking® account. But if you're a college student, you may be eligible for a Chase College CheckingSM account.

Take a look at an overview of two popular checking account options below, and visit a Chase branch before your 19th birthday to discuss the right account for you. If you're interested in a Chase College Checking account, you'll need to head into a branch and convert your account. If not, your account will be automatically converted to a Chase Total Checking account.
